

Position: Executive Environmental Consultant, Oil & Gas

Job Number: EEC4411005

Location: Perth

Schedule: Full Time

Description: My client, a global technical consultancy, urgently requires an Executive Environmental Consultant, Oil & Gas to join their talent of people.

Due to the sustained growth of the environmental Oil and Gas team based in Perth, the opportunity now exists for a highly motivated individual to support the strategic direction of the company within the Oil and Gas sector.

Your previous experience in the Oil and Gas sector will be paramount to your success as you will be well placed to provide strategic and technical direction to the environmental and social planning business areas in relation to ESHIA, corporate social responsibility, stakeholder and community engagement and regulation consultation.

Working closely with the Oil and Gas Relationship Client Manager based in Perth, you will actively be involved in identifying new business opportunities as well as further developing existing client relationships. Furthermore you will provide leadership support to local or global opportunities within the oil and gas sector.

Your responsibilities will include:

- Setting and implementing strategic direction for conducting ESHIA for international Oil and Gas clients.
- Operating as a Project director role for environmental approvals and social planning projects for the oil and gas industry.
- Working across the company's business units/ geographic locations to develop ESHIA awareness and business opportunities.
- Mentoring and coaching junior members of the company's environment and planning teams.

This is an excellent opportunity to become recognised as a key person who has helped deliver the strategic plan to develop an Oil and Gas centre of excellence for global service delivery.

Applications: Email your resume in the strictest confidence to Shirley@exemplar.com.au